"The project developers generally transfer the wind power projects after commissioning or prior to commissioning of the wind turbine generators to some of the new companies. These new companies seek allotments / transfers of wind power projects. As these new companies are startup companies having no net worth, the parent companies are extending the Corporate Guarantee to their subsidiary company for financial support for completing the projects.

Under the circumstances explained above, it is requested to accord approval to process such request for allotments/ transfers of wind power project to startup companies by considering the net worth of the parent company. The Corporate Guarantee of the parent Company will also be obtained as an additional security."
